With an eye to "the new millennium," Luchkin is constructing an innovative office building and green roof. Plan: see "The Business Center," later in this chapter. Whitsbury, near London, England A Case of the Possibilities The park is one of the largest in Britain. Its trees and lawns, interspersed with ponds and rose beds, are perfect for picnics. The "Town Hall" features many roomy, airy spaces, all of which have views of the gardens. Town Hall, Whitsbury, near Reading, England Click here to see a larger image. Pallant House, University of Chichester, U.K. One-of-a-Kind The St. Anne's House at the University of Chichester has the following: a seven-story, glassy tower of glass and steel; innovative digital systems (no more moving files from desk to desk); well-designed offices and meeting rooms that encourage informal interaction; meeting rooms that can accommodate either two or four people (and they can turn into four meeting rooms when necessary); state-of-the-art telecommunication systems; and a magnificent roof terrace. St. Anne's House, University of Chichester, U.K. The Tower House, Central London, England The Tower House provides a lovely view of the Houses of Parliament and Whitehall. Located just off the Strand, the tower is a light, airy, very private, very elegant building. The Tower House also offers a highly desirable location, with every convenience on hand: banks, restaurants, cafés, shops, buses, and a 7:00 am–7:00 pm open-air market. The rooms are well laid out and comfortable. Lots of natural light, a clever system of under-floor heating, and air-conditioning, and spotlessly clean.
