Lover's Nest Takenaka Ataru is a high school student who lives with his rich grandfather. He doesn't want to marry, and he hates his best friend's husband. He meets Natsuhira love Ataru, but she doesn't love him back, instead preferring his friend in a secret relationship with her husband. Later, Ataru and Natsuhira learn about each other's relationship with their families. Ataru becomes more attracted to Natsuhira, and she agrees to marry him. At the ceremony, she betrays him and tells the secret. Ataru is devastated, and the two get into a fight. They reconcile and return to living with their families. After Natsuhira is released from the hospital, she goes home to change. Ataru comes to her house and sees her husband come out of the closet. She gives Ataru a lethal injection of sleeping pills. She tells her husband that she got into an accident. When the husband is alone with Ataru, he rapes her in front of his mistress. Ataru is given an ultimatum: she can either remain loyal to Natsuhira or tell everyone about the rape. She chooses the latter. Her parents and friends are furious with her for abandoning her lover. However, Ataru's grandfather, who had always loved her, tells her that he understands her feelings. He no longer wants her to live with him. Ataru's husband and Natsuhira are killed by Ataru's grandfather, who wants to have his grandfather, who
