My problem is: as you can see in the example, we have three nodes: The top node has the same length, while the other two nodes are different. How can I handle this situation in a simple way? Here is my code: \documentclass{standalone} \usepackage{pgfplots} \begin{document} \begin{tikzpicture} \begin{axis} \addplot[ samples = 20, axis x line = middle, axis y line = middle, extra x ticks = {1, 2},
