The month of August is the time of renewal. The Faridoon, or cycle of the moon (sometimes identified with the tenth of the month) and the Rabi-ul-Awwal, or month of the year (which runs from 1st to 30th of DhulHijja), are the two Iranian lunar based calendars. Ultrasepsv2crackserialkey. The month of July is also called Hazrat-ul-Emarat, which is a chronological name and was given to this month to mark the birth of the Islamic Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). Radical Islam is the ideological and theological worldview of the Muslim faith, just as it is often used in political discourse as a synonym for "Islamism". A good example of radical Islam is the Wahhabi, a Sunni Islamic sect. Ramadan follows the Muslim calendar. During Ramadan, Muslims fast from sunrise to sunset, and typically abstain from all sexual activity, all drinks and food and perform no physical activity, generally. A Ramadan break is a period of time in which people give up their regular work schedule to observe fast. During this period Muslims do not eat, drink or smoke as they would during the rest of the year. In Ramadan, Muslims generally also refrain from socializing, shopping or shopping, praying or attending religious practices, and recite the Quran. These practices are considered the pillars of Islam. During Ramadan, a Muslim may be known as a "Ramadan fasting" or "Ramadan wanita", or "fasting woman". RECITING WORDS OF THE QURAN OR STAYING UP ALL NIGHT FOR IT Will recite a verse of the Quran to a friend or family member or to oneself. Although considered highly sacred 570a42141b
