The problem is that the child has a lot of content, and that content pushes the centre of the DIV to the left. If I add: margin-left:0px; margin-right:0px; It keeps the centre in place but the content goes off the edge of the DIV. How can I fix this? A: Add margin:0 auto; to the parent. This will automatically center the div relative to the middle of the viewport. Q: Laravel Error - Illegal string offset When I run the following command: php artisan tinker it throws an error like: [Symfony\Component\Debug\Exception\FatalThrow 1d6a3396d6

What's New in the Firefly Softphone?

FireflySoftPhone is a good-looking VoIP client that is not too heavy on resources. It gives users the possibility to make calls from their computers, smartphones, tablets and other gadgets connected to the same network. Work with your contacts The tool allows users to work with contacts and it is also possible to add Skype contacts using the import feature of the tool. It has also an excellent search tool that makes it easy to find the contacts based on their phone number or email address. The app also has some interesting features such as the ability to download your conversations to the user's storage space as well as the features that allow remote users to be called directly and to have control of their call. This product works in a perfect way and it is easy to manage even for the inexperienced user. Looks are simple and it can be customized in order to change the user's experience. Key features: - ability to make calls using your computer - has a user interface that is simple and intuitive - supports VoIP communication, also has Skype support - includes a built-in call recorder - the possibility to make calls from the telephone - allows you to be called via Skype - contacts can be added using an import feature - can add contacts using a search feature - has a history feature - enables remote users to talk directly to you - supports instant messaging (IM) - can create a "away" mode - supports voice over internet protocol (VoIP) - supports smartphone calls - supports landline calls - supports calls via the telephone - includes a phonebook - allows remote users to talk to you - works with the presence of Skype - is compatible with Windows XP, Windows Vista, Windows 7 and Windows 8 It is true that VoIP is cheaper than the conventional phone bill. However, a user needs to choose the service provider carefully. VoIP uses the internet as its source of communication and as such, there is a great deal of possibility for users to get charged more than what they actually paid. Also, the need for internet connection on the user's part is a clear drawback of VoIP. That's why most users opt for the internet version of the Skype, which is what VoIP is all about. The best thing about Skype is that it's free, as it has no hidden costs. Skype is a great communication tool that makes it very easy for users to chat with other Skype users at a cost that is very affordable. You do not need an expensive set of equipment to get a good Skype experience, as most of the features are available without using an internet connection. Skype is a very useful application that is available for both PC and Mac users. This application is widely used by students and is, therefore, regarded as the ultimate
